OMA's July 2008 total passenger traffic decreases 4.4%

§ Year to date traffic increases 6.0%

Monterrey, Mexico, August 8, 2008—Mexican airport operator Grupo Aeroportuario del Centro Norte, S.A.B. de C.V., known as OMA, reports that total passenger traffic (terminal passengers) at its 13 airports decreased 4.4% in July 2008, as compared to July 2007.

Domestic traffic in July 2008 decreased 5.0% (-19,936 passengers), compared to the prior year period. The airports that reported the most significant decreases in passenger traffic were Durango, Culiacán, Zihuatanejo, and Mazatlán. The airports with the most significant increases in passenger traffic were Acapulco and San Luis Potosi, with the latter benefiting from the start of up of operations of Alma on July 1, 2008.

International traffic decreased 0.6% (-1,049 passengers) in July 2008, as compared to July 2007. Airports with the most significant reductions in international passenger traffic volume were Culiacán, Mazatlán, Zihuatanejo, and Zacatecas. The principal international passenger traffic increases were in Monterrey and Tampico, with the latter reflecting a new American Eagle route to Dallas that opened in April 2008.

The year over year decrease in monthly traffic in the result of three principal factors. First, airlines reacted rapidly to the increase in oil prices, cancelling routes, reducing flight frequencies, and adjusting tariffs, among other actions. Second, July 2007 was the month with the highest volume of traffic in OMA's history, which affects the inter-annual comparisons.

The third factor is of regulatory nature. The Ministry of Communications and Transportation (SCT) suspended temporarily the operations of several airlines for non-payment of government royalties for the use of Mexican airspace. Aerocalifornia (2.7% of OMA's total passenger traffic in the first seven months of 2008) was suspended on July 24, 2008, and Avolar (0.7% of total traffic) was suspended effective August 5, 2008. The SCT has also stated the possibility of suspending Aviaca (8.2% of total traffic), however, Aviaca received on August 6th a permanent court injunction that enables it to keep using Mexican airspace.

By airport

Monterrey, OMA's principal airport, served 665,949 passengers in July 2008, representing a decrease of 2.6% (-17,838 passengers) compared to the same month of 2007. Domestic traffic at Monterrey airport decreased 4.6% principally as a result of lower traffic on routes to Hermosillo, Veracruz, Chihuahua, and Ciudad Juárez. International traffic increased 9.9% as a result of new routes opened in recent months (Austin, Detroit, New York, and Los Angeles). In addition, Aeroméxico inaugurated their twice weekly Monterrey-Rome route on July 26, 2008.

Acapulco, OMA's third largest airport, recorded a growth in passenger traffic of 10.2% in July. Domestic traffic increased 12.7% as a result of an increase in passenger traffic to and from Toluca, Tijuana, and Monterrey. International traffic decreased 3.3%, principally as a result of lower traffic from the United States and Canada.
